FEBRUARY 6, 2024 @ 6:30 - 8:00 PM

JOHNSON COUNTY REPUBLICAN PARTY HEADQUARTERS

Join us for a roundtable discussion with presenters:

Scott Porter, Tax Assessor-Collector

- Scott will explain his role and provide an overview of the Tax Assessor-Collector office.

Amy Lingo, Central Appraisal District Board

- Amy and Bruce Medley, Attorney, will explain the process for protesting your property value.

What determines how much taxes I owe?:

Each year, the tax rates adopted by each of the local taxing entities (city, school, county, etc.) are multiplied by the taxable value of the property (less any exemptions) as determined by the Central Appraisal District. This process determines the amount of local property taxes due for each property the Johnson County Tax Office collects for and generates the tax statements that are sent.

What if I don't agree with my property value?:

The Central Appraisal District sends out notices of appraised value usually around April and May to inform property owners if their property value for the upcoming tax year has increased over the previous year. If you disagree with this value, under new legislation starting January 1, 2018, you have until May 15 or no later than 30 days from the date the notice was mailed (whichever is later) to file a protest with the Appraisal Review Board.
